TONOPAH SCHOOL OF MINES WILL REOPEN MONDAY MORNING

The Tonopah school of mines will resume Monday morning at 10 o'clock with a class from 10 to noon and another in the evening from 6 to 8 o'clock under the direction of Prof. Ellsworth Bennett. The attendance is not expected to be as large as last year owing to the numerous withdrawals from the camp but up to date applications indicate that between twelve and fifteen students will register.

Nevada was the first state to introduce a system of secondary mining education for the men employed in its metal mines and mills. Beginning with a single school operated as an extension department of the University of Nevada, the system has grown until it now consists of five distinct schools. Four of these are permanently located in Virginia City, Tonopah, Goldfield and Ely; while the fifth is a moving school which is at present in session at Yerington, but is free to go to any camp in Nevada where the demand is sufficient.

The object of Nevada's secondary mining schools is to enable working miners and millmen to fit themselves for higher positions without stopping work. Positions for which training is given are such as foreman, sampler, assayer, surveyor and prospector. No attempt is made to train mining engineers and metallurgists, but young men doing well in the secondary schools are encouraged to go to the Mackay school of mines at the University of Nevada for engineering training. Thus these schools fulfill the two-fold purpose of enabling men at work to study mining subjects and of supplying trained men for minor positions about the mines and mills.

The only requirement for entrance into these schools is the ability to talk and read English, and the instruction is elementary and practical in character. The regular class work consists of two hours daily, excepting Saturdays and Sundays, divided between two subjects, instruction is given at two different two-hour periods to accommodate men working on different shifts. The laboratories are open throughout these days, and also on Saturday mornings.

Thirty-seven courses are offered, and suggestions are made for the grouping of these courses to train for different positions.

ALL THE WOOD YOU WANT FREE OF COST FROM FOREST RESERVE

As the winter season is approaching and the question of fuel is becoming of paramount importance the department of the interior desires the public to know how simple a matter it is to legitimately procure fuel from the public lands of the United States without charge.

Under the regulations issued by the commissioner of the general land office any resident of the state of Nevada may secure wood free of all costs from public lands of the United States in that state for his own use for agricultural or domestic purposes, to an amount not exceeding $50 stumpage value in any one year.

Also where a number of persons are unable to cut and remove the wood themselves, they may, by complying with certain regulations, be permitted to appoint an agent to cut and remove the wood for them.

No one has the right to cut and remove timber from Government land without first securing permission to do so from the chief of field division of the general land office, and anyone removing wood without such a permit will be liable for the value of the wood so removed.

Persons desiring to secure permits to take wood from government land should communicate with J. H. Fawcett, chief of field division, 515 Custom House, San Francisco, Cal.

WILLIE JACKS PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDER

Willie Jacks, the Indian boy indicted for the murder of Mrs. Chas. Williams, of Hick's Station, near Eureka county, was arraigned in court this afternoon supported by his counsel, Judge Peter J. Somers, who had been appointed by the court. The prisoner pleaded guilty and the court proceeded with examination of the prisoner as required by law before passing judgment and then ordered that he be remanded to the county jail until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock when sentence will be passed.

HISTORIC RANCH CHANGES OWNERS

W. C. Grimes, one of the pioneers of Churchill county, has sold his entire holdings, consisting of ranch and cattle to Humphreys, Nichols & Small of Reno, according to the Churchill Standard.

The passing of the Grimes ranch to the new owners marks an era in the history of Churchill county. Located on the old overland route, it was a famous stopping place, an oasis in the desert to the hardy pioneers who braved the perils of the great transcontinental route in the late '50s and early '60s. When the first settlers came into this valley the Grimes place was owned by A. B. Waller, who conducted a toll bridge over the Carson slough, and many are the tales told of last dollars paid to Waller for passage over the treacherous bog.

Mr. Grimes came to Churchill county from Dayton, Nevada, in 1862 to accept the position of clerk of the district court to which he had been appointed by Governor Nye. The county seat was then located at La Plata, a mining town in the Silver Range, now a forgotten memory in all but the recollections of the old pioneers. In 1869 Mr. Grimes acquired the property which he sold last week and which has been his continuous residence for over 49 years.

LIVESTOCK DRIVEWAY TO FOREST RESERVES

Final work on the livestock drive-ways, provided for by congress in the 640-acre grazing homestead act, is now being done in Nevada by special agents of the general land office. It is the desire of Commissioner Clay Tallman to have this work completed before the end of the present year. Stockmen interested in these drive-ways, or in any particular driveway, should see to it that the field agents engaged in the work receive all necessary information concerning the wants of the stockgrowers and that the drive-ways desired are investigated and decided upon.

Stockmen desiring drive-ways, or opposing the establishment of any such, should at once communicate with George E. Hall, special agent, general land office, care U. S. Land Office, Elko, or care general delivery, Reno.

The object of these livestock drive-ways is to provide permanent routes over which livestock may be trailed in going to and from national forests, from summer to winter ranges, and vice versa, and to shipping points, shearing pens, etc. When established, lands embraced therein will be withdrawn from entry, thus providing permanent routes of travel for all flocks and herds. It is, therefore, to the interest of stockmen to get in touch with Special Agent Hall as soon as possible and to ascertain just what is being done and whether their rights are being properly conserved.

AMUSEMENTS

MARY PICKFORD TODAY

Mary Pickford, the evening star of the film firmaments, outshines the brilliancy of every past cinema achievement in her new production, "Stella Maris." In this screen play there are two Mary Pickfords, or, to be exact, Mary Pickford in two different characters of extreme contrast. This is the first time that "Our Mary" has ever experienced the feeling of co-starring with herself and that she enjoys the novelty is evident. In the part of Stella Maris, Mary appears as we knew her best—a beautiful child with long curls and pretty frocks. Living in a home of wealth, surrounded by every luxury and with the tender care of a circle of friends who worship her, the character is similar to those which have disclosed her best efforts in the past. Unity Blake, however, is a part which shows Mary as we have never seen her before. With curls straightened out and hair braided down against a dirty face and over a hunched shoulder, the unattractive Unity, slave of an orphanage, is as different from pretty Stella as the cactus is unlike the rose. Although of two entirely different worlds, the lives of Stella and Unity become closely linked in the course of the story. Also a Ford educational reel.
